

FORUM SELF EVALUATION

/12

Your goal is to self-evaluate your contributions to the forums. For EACH forum you discuss, you must self-evaluate based on the rubric below.

Circle or highlight where your forum post 'fits' on the rubric. Then, write a brief (2-4 sentence) rationale for your self-evaluation. I would like you to tell me what you really like about your post and what you might consider changing/improving.

Criterion	Exceeding Expectations 3 points	Meets Expectations 2 points	Approaching Expectations 1 points	Not Within Expectations No points
Follows instructions	-Response is more than the minimum length requirement -Response addresses ALL questions	-Response meets basic length requirements -Response addresses most questions	- Response is about half of the length requirement -Response addresses only one or two aspects of the prompt	-Response is only one or two sentences -Response addresses only one aspect of the prompt
Thoughtfulness of response	Discussion includes an in-depth analysis of issues with original thought and ideas	Response includes an adequate analysis with some original thought and ideas	Response is a general analysis of main points with little original thought or ideas	Limited or no analysis of main points lacking in original thought and ideas. Might repeat prompt, or state the obvious.
Support for stated position	Discussion often provides information from the reading and other outside experiences	Discussion frequently refers to assigned reading and other outside experiences	Discussion rarely cites content from assigned reading to support ideas expressed in forum	Discussion has little or no reference to assigned reading.
Response to another discussion	Response often includes an in-depth analysis of issues presented by others AND generates original ideas as well. You may have responded to more than one person.	Response provides some analysis of discussion by others AND some original ideas.	Response is general but does contribute to the overall discussion.	Simple agreement or disagreement with others' post.
